iShares MSCI EAFE ETF	$34	0.32%

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the reporting period ended July 31, 2025, the Fund returned 11.92%.
- For the same period, the MSCI ACWI ex USA Index (Net) returned 14.73% and the MSCI EAFE Index (Net) returned 12.77%.

What contributed to performance?

German stocks were the largest contributors to the Fund’s performance during the reporting period. Aerospace and defense companies in the industrials sector were boosted after the country passed legislation that removed a borrowing restriction for military spending, fueling companies that manufacture engines and those that develop ammunition and air defense systems. Financials stocks in the United Kingdom also contributed, as banks benefited from strong balance sheets, robust performance from investment banking units, and solid trading activity. In France, aerospace and defense companies in the industrials sector gained, as the country announced plans to increase military spending.

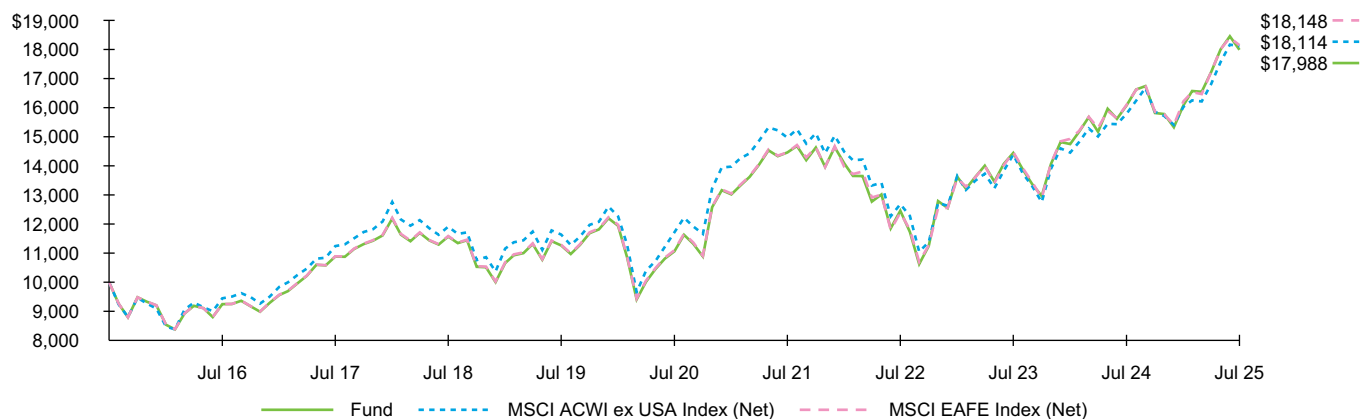

What detracted from performance?

A Danish healthcare company detracted from the Fund’s performance during the reporting period. The firm reduced its sales growth outlook after its blockbuster weight loss drug faced increased competition from lower-cost alternatives.
