How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the same period, the S&P Municipal Bond Index returned 3.89% and the S&P AMT-Free Municipal Series Callable-Adjusted Dec 2031 Index returned 4.54%.

What contributed to performance?

Municipal bond performance during the reporting period was driven by heavy new issuance and early-period volatility. Volatility stabilized after passage of the One Big Beautiful Bill, which reaffirmed the tax-exempt status of municipals and helped ease market concerns. Mixed economic signals also influenced municipal bond returns, while the late-period U.S. government shutdown added to market volatility. After cutting rates in December of 2024, the Federal Reserve held policy rates steady through the first part of the year, before cutting rates by 25 basis points in both September and October 2025 as evidence of a cooling labor market outweighed persistent, though elevated, inflation concerns.

During the reporting period, municipal investment grade bonds, particularly those rated Aa, contributed the most to the return of both earlier maturity and later maturity Term Funds. Intermediate maturities in the seven-to-ten-year range contributed the most to earlier maturity Term Funds, while later-dated Term Funds were supported by issues over ten years.

What detracted from performance?

There were no notable detractors from the Fund’s performance during the reporting period.
