What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Fund name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
iShares Morningstar Growth ETF	$4	0.04%

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the reporting period ended April 30, 2025, the Fund returned 14.99%.
- For the same period, the Morningstar US Market Index returned 11.51% and the Morningstar® US Large-Mid Cap Broad Growth IndexSM returned 15.03%.

What contributed to performance?

The information technology sector was the largest contributor to the Fund’s return during the reporting period. Within the technology hardware and equipment segment, an innovative multinational technology company gained due to its consistently strong brand recognition and a robust ecosystem of its products and services. Software and services stocks advanced, as application software and systems software names benefited from growing demand for integrated platforms that combine cybersecurity, artificial intelligence (“AI”), and cloud capabilities to address evolving business needs. Semiconductor firms were also positive, as firms increased their AI outlays and data center spending. In the consumer discretionary sector, an electric vehicle maker benefited from the possible deregulation of autonomous driving, and as investors remained optimistic about the company’s long-term growth plans. Within the financials sector, firms that provide transaction and payment processing services were supported by strong consumer spending and increased payment volume in digital transactions.

What detracted from performance?

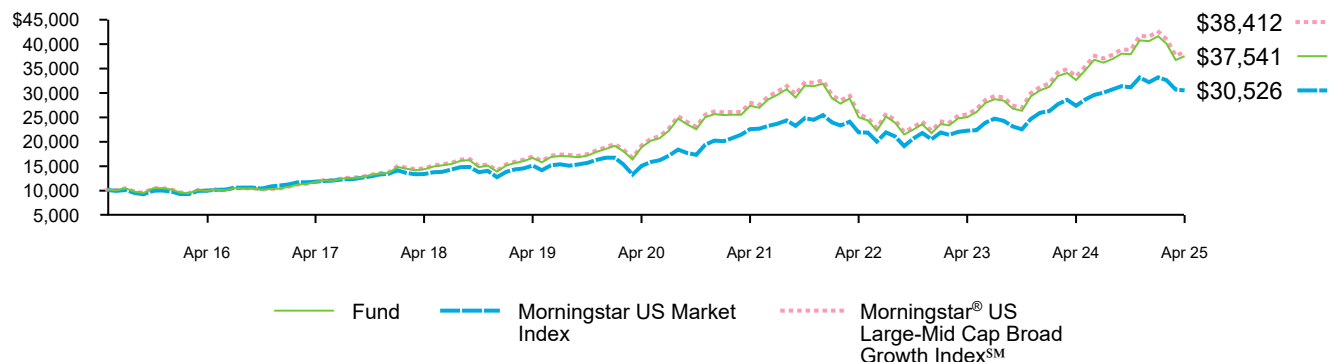

There were no significant detractors from the Fund’s return during the reporting period.
