What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Fund name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
iShares Global Consumer Staples ETF	$41	0.40%

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the reporting period ended March 31, 2025, the Fund returned 7.41%.
- For the same period, the S&P Global Broad Market Index returned 6.18% and the S&P Global 1200 Consumer Staples (Sector) Capped Index™ returned 7.15%.

What contributed to performance?

Consumer staples stocks from the United States were the largest contributors to the Fund’s return during the reporting period. Stocks in the consumer staples merchandise retail sector gained, particularly leading brick-and-mortar retailers with a focus on low pricing and everyday essentials. Additionally, these companies benefited from efforts to increase their e-commerce operations. Tobacco companies saw positive outcomes from the success of their smoke-free products, such as tobacco pouches and e-cigarettes. Further, firms that engage in household and personal products from the United Kingdom also contributed.

What detracted from performance?

A personal care product provider from France modestly detracted from the Fund’s return during the reporting period. This firm faced headwinds due to continued weakness in the Chinese beauty market, as well as a slowdown in demand in the United States.
