What were the Fund costs for the last year? (based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Fund name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
iShares Treasury Floating Rate Bond ETF	$15	0.15%

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the reporting period ended October 31, 2025, the Fund returned 4.41%.
- For the same period, the Bloomberg U.S. Universal Index returned 6.51% and the Bloomberg U.S. Treasury Floating Rate Index returned 4.55%.

What contributed to performance?

Treasury floating rate notes are issued with maturities of two years and coupons that reset periodically based on the three-month Treasury bill rate. During the reporting period, the yield on the three-month Treasury bill decreased, amid mixed economic signals, shifting monetary policies, and ongoing global trade tensions, while the late-period U.S. government shutdown added to market volatility. (Bond prices and yields move in opposite directions.) After cutting rates in December of 2024, the Federal Reserve held policy rates steady through the first part of the year, before cutting rates by 25 basis points in both September and October 2025 as evidence of a cooling labor market outweighed persistent, though elevated, inflation concerns.

What detracted from performance?

There were no significant detractors from the Fund's return during the reporting period.
